Press Release

AGC of NH Elects New President for 2009

The Associated of General Contractors of New Hampshire (AGC of NH) has announced the election of its new 2009 President Glenn Cairns. The announcement was formally made at the organization's 59th Annual Meeting held on December 11th at the Castleton in Windham, NH. Daniel Messier, of Pro Con, Inc. the 2008 President handed the gavel over to the incoming President, Glenn Cairns of George R. Cairns & Sons, Inc. located in Windham, NH. Cairns is Vice President of George R. Cairns and Sons, Inc. and has worked there for 28 years.

As Glenn Cairns looks forward to his year as AGC of NH President in 2009, he feels that hope is just around the corner. With our President-elect's priority to fix our economy, "infrastructure investment is just an inauguration and a few pen strokes away," Cairns said at his induction. "Although any infusion of money from Washington is a wonderful thing and very much appreciated, it is only a short-term remedy. We still have much work to do on establishing a long-term mechanism that will ensure financial stability to adequately maintain and improve our local infrastructure."

After his speech, Cairns presented Messier with the AGC President's plaque for the "outstanding Leadership Award for the 2008 President" and a special clock as a gift in appreciation of his time and efforts serving as President for 2008.

The Associated General Contractors of NH is a nonprofit trade association established in 1949 consisting of general contractors, subcontractors, and industry professionals dedicated to improving the professional standards of the construction industry, since our establishment in 1949. The AGC of NH includes contractors of building and highway industry, open shop and union, which perform commercial and industrial, public and private work in the state.
