Contractor's Organization Recognizes Two Of Its Own With Appreciation Award

On December 9th, at the Castleton in Windham, NH the Associated General Contractors of New Hampshire (AGC of NH) presented two of its members with the second annual Appreciation Award. The Appreciation Award recognizes those individuals who have dedicated their time and put forth extraordinary efforts relative to the commercial construction industry. This year, the Association decided to reward two of its members with this award to mark their incredible commitment and devotion to not only the Association, but also to the industry.

Ron Ciotti, a partner at the Concord, NH law firm Hinckley, Allen & Snyder, LLP, was the first recipient. In his four years as serving as an Associate Director on the Board of Directors, Ciotti has made his dedication to bettering the industry apparent. He has served Association in many other capacities as well- leading the AGC of NH Legislative Committee as its chairman and participating on state legislative commissions. Ron Ciotti thanked the membership for the honor. He also stated how proud he is to be a part of an industry that is built on integrity and respect.

Jim Gove, President of Gove Environmental Services, was the second recipient. He has been a part of the Association for a number of years, and a member of the Board of Directors for seven years. As Vice President of Associates, Gove has aided the Associations in many legislative tasks, and is able to provide extensive knowledge on environmental topics. He also serves on the Associations Environment Committee, as well as a state legislative commission. Gove also thanked the membership for the honor. He remarked that he has enjoyed working with the members and serving the industry.

Each of the recipients has brought an immeasurable amount of support to the Association and the commercial construction industry. AGC of NH is proud to present these awards to two deserving individuals.
